My Values

It's not about how many times you fell down, but how many times you get up and fight again.

Failure is hard but it's also extremely valuable, so embrace it, learn from it and come back even stronger.

We rise by lifting others.

We came here to learn, share the knowledge and experiences and help one another. Let's leave this planet a bit better than we found, starting with kindness.

Stay hunger.

Being a doctor has instilled me with the habit of study everyday. Stay hunger not only for knowledge, but for life. Learn from people.

Stay humble.

What we know is a drop, what we don't know is an ocean.
